One Bin at a Time – Plastics Primer

Talking trash with Jen Messeder, LSC member
In partnership with the Lee Solid Waste Committee

After aluminum cans, plastics are the next items that we earn the most money on when we recycle them, so that's the next natural stop on our journey to reduce our solid waste. Before we dive into what kinds of plastic we do and do not recycle in Lee, let's explore what, exactly, plastic is.

Plastic is made of various natural substances, with naphtha (which comes from the distillation of crude oil) being a key ingredient. Crude oil (along with other fossil fuels like coal and natural gas) is the remains of ancient plants that died out some 300 million years ago.

If plastic is made from natural ingredients, why does it get such a bad rap? After all, it has lots of benefits over other materials – it's water-proof, lightweight, flexible, strong, less likely to break when dropped, doesn't rust and so on.

All of these are benefits of plastics, which is why they are so popular. But here are some downsides:

- While the main ingredient in plastic (crude oil) is biodegraded plants, plastic itself is not biodegradable. Paper products, on the other hand, are biodegradable.
- Glass and metal are also not biodegradable, but they tend not to cause as much damage if they end up as litter. They don't blow around, getting caught in trees or ending up in large, floating masses of trash in the oceans.
- The fact that plastic items tend to float also increases the likelihood that marine animals will accidentally eat or get tangled in them. We humans can also end up eating "micro-plastics" when we eat fish.
- There's a set amount of crude oil on our planet. How much is there? 60 years' worth? 100? 1000? We could debate it, but the fact is that no one is claiming that this planet contains an unlimited amount of oil, or that it can replace what we use at least as quickly as we use it. This means there is a definite end date on our ability to make new plastics.
- While glass and metal can be recycled endlessly with no decrease in material quality, recycling plastic tends to degrade the quality of the material. At some point, the plastic can't be recycled anymore and it will most likely go to a landfill.

Aim to reduce the amount of plastic you use, and stay tuned for how to recycle plastics in Lee.

WHEN SECONDS COUNT...

Can the Police, Fire, or Ambulance find your home when you need them for assistance with an emergency? Can they find it at night? Can they find it during a snowstorm? Having your name and number on a mailbox is just not enough. Some mailboxes are clustered together. The numbers are small and the location may not mark the entrance to your driveway. The Lee Firemen's Association, in a joint effort with the Lee Fire Department, has started a program to install reflective house number signs at driveway entrances to assist all emergency responders in locating your home in a time of need. The cost for each sign with a post is $30.00 and it will be installed by the Lee Firemen's Association.

Please take the time NOW to SAVE TIME in an EMERGENCY

POLICE NOTICE

In a follow up to the request that residents properly number their homes, CLICK HERE for the Ordinance that applies. The Lee Police will be compiling a list of homes that are not complying with this ordinance and make contact with the homeowners in hopes of getting everyone in compliance which will make it easier to locate a residence in times of an emergency.
