A. Lee Fair Activities: Debrief

Dean: The recycling contest was long but effective. We taught about ten families how to recycle.

Paul: Good activity for the booth. Good job on the game and the rocks, Jen

Jen: We could use a few more rocks for those windy periods next year.

Jen: Seemed like interest in the Useless item contest as well. People were also receptive to composting their dinner.

Paul: We could have set it up better, with a regular garbage can and a compost bin at each of two manned stations. It was silly to have both compost bins together.

Chuck: The farm games went well. Scheduled around Tricky Dick. Kids invented their own games, which was great.

Tim: The adult games were well attended.

Jen: I've reviewed the recycling contest submissions and have determined two first place and a second place winner. We had 9 completed tests, 2 scores of 33/36, one 30/36. We need to buy an extra soap/gift set for the first place winners. Paul: I arranged for that. Dean: I'll take Ruth's prize home to her. Paul/Jen worked out delivering other prizes.

Paul: Prize? Dean: Lee local products

Paul: Maybe extend deadline into October

Dean will investigate making Jen's game work online using Drag and Drop

Tim: How about investigating "Where does it go" after it leaves the transfer station?

Dean/Paul: Upstream pressure

Paul: Sounds like the goal would be an article about where things go after they're tossed.

Dean will meet with Steve about where stuff goes.

Paul: November: Fix It event. We applied for space at Mast Way. Matt Rowell may demonstrate tool and knife sharpening.

Jen will contact Port City Makerspace

Paul: Tentative date second week of November, probably Sat Nov 9 or Nov 16, Sunday if need be.

Cary Brown, electronics? Ask Jim Banks about presentation?

Paul will summarize.

December: Dinner, weeknight pot luck, hire school employee(s) for evening. Paul will find date.
